

Plant Reproduction & Propagation

Directions:

1. Using all available resources, research and describe the structure and function of different seed components and summarize their roles in plant reproduction and propagation.
2. After completing your research, write a brief paragraph on the information you found.
3. Cite all sources used.